Ashlar-Vellum™ Releases Cobalt™, Xenon™ & Argon™ v10

April 12, 2018, Austin, TX. Ashlar-Vellum announces the development and upcoming release of Cobalt, Xenon and Argon version 10, their 3D solid and surface modeling products on Mac and Windows.

All three of the products offer the following in version 10:

- Support for the latest operating systems including Mac 10.13 High Sierra
- Support for the latest DXF/DWG up to AutoCAD 2018
- Various bug fixes
- Enhancements of existing features

“We look forward to many more years of helping others change the world as they communicate their innovations, ideas and dreams using our software,” said Robert Bou, president of Ashlar-Vellum.

Those who pre-purchased the upgrade can download Cobalt, Xenon & Argon v10 here then use the new serial number and registration codes emailed to them upon purchase to run the software.

Those who have not yet purchased can download the software and run it in demo mode (no saving) or contact Ashlar-Vellum for a trial code for a two-week trial code to evaluate the software.
